Application: AI Chief of Staff

Dear Romain,

The role you describe is the one I have been looking for: hands-on, agentic, owned end-to-end, next to a founder still building. I am applying because I want to do this work, not present it.

For the last year, I have been lucky enough to work on agents and AI-driven development. At Bazzile, the real estate SaaS I cofounded, I built an in-app voice agent on Elixir/Jido that handles the role of a real estate agent helping users find their perfect home, and wired Claude Code into the engineering loop and n8n into the back-office to kill recurring manual tasks. At Scrypt, I rolled out Claude Enterprise across the company in a few weeks — Slack, Linear, email, calendars — and trained every team one by one until they actually used it daily. At Wonderful, I drove the first enterprise clients of an agentic AI platform from zero to production agents — deploy, train, measure — until they were used daily, not just installed.

I have also carried things alone. Bazzile started as me — scoping, coding, deploying, selling — until the product justified two more engineers and a technical success officer. I also have leadership experience: I led ~40 people at FlowBank reporting to the ExCo and ~50 engineers at Ripple. The part of those years that prepared me for this role is the founder-adjacent work: sitting next to the CEO, choosing what to kill and what to scale, and translating reality between the team and the executive room.

I am Geneva-based, a native French speaker, fluent in English, and I genuinely enjoy spending time in person with colleagues on-site. I would welcome the chance to walk you through my experience and projects.

Yours sincerely,

Thibault Fouache
